

PHONE COMPANY IS STARTING $75,000 BUILDING MARCH. 1

DIRECTORS SELECTED N. MAX
DUNNING TO DESIGN NEW BUILDING.

MEANS VERY HIGHEST EFFICIENCY

Name Building Committee—Pitcher
Elected Director to Succeed
Geo. E. Laing.

The directors of the Dixon Home Telephone company, in session in Dixon today, voted to proceed at once with the preliminary work and actual building of the new telephone building on the corner of Peoria avenue and Second street. The building and equipment it will house, beside the construction work to be done on the outside property of the company, will be an improvement costing at least $75,000.

N. Max Dunning of Chicago, designer of the Dixon National bank building, the City National bank building, etc., was selected by the board to draw plans for the improvement.

W. S. Durkes was elected chairman of the building committee and E. B. Raymond, E. N. Howell, L. D. Pitcher and A. G. Hawley are the other members of the committee.

Two Story Structure.

The new Home Telephone company building will be a two story, absolutely fireproof building, and will be a big addition to the appearance of the business interests of the section of the city in which the new building will be located.

Splendid Equipment.

The business of the local phone company, which is greatly in excess of the business done by similar concerns in the average city, has grown so rapidly in the last few years that the plant is now practically up to capacity, and it is for that reason that the directors find it necessary to make this big investment—to better present service if possible and to make room for increasing volume of business. With the new plant equipped and in working order, Dixon will have a telephone system that will be unsurpassed in modern equipment and efficiency anywhere in the United States.

Build In Spring.

The building committee will advertise for bids and will let contracts on the various phases of the work during the winter and ground will be broken the first of March for the building operations. A complete description of the building and new equipment was published in the Telegraph some time ago.

Pitcher Is Director.

Louis Pitcher, manager of the Home Telephone company, was today elected a director in the company. He succeeds the late Geo. D. Laing.

LEECH AND BARLOW PHEASANT FANCIERS

AMBOY MEN ARE RAISING FOWLS—PLYMOUTH ROCK HEN HELPED.

Amboy, Oct. 22—City Attorney W. L. Leech and Alderman E. H. Barlow have gone into the business of raising pheasants. Mr. Leech brought the parent birds from the state game farm at Springfield, and Mr. Barlow is taking care of them for him. They hoped to have a family of young pheasants to exhibit at the county fair but the first eggs appeared in the pheasant's nest too late in the season.

The eggs were taken from the mother pheasant and placed under a nice old Plymouth Rock Biddy who seemed to be of more domestic tastes, and a few days ago four little chicks hatched.

An investigation will be made to learn where he came from.

AFTER THEIR HARD WORK IN WAR GAMES BIG BATTLESHIPS NEED OVERHAULING.

Six battleships of the Atlantic fleet, including the Wyoming, flagship of Admiral Frank E. Fletcher, returned to New York from Newport and the lately completed war games. The Arkansas went at once to the Brooklyn navy yard, and in a few hours the vessel was in drydock for general overhauling. The five others—the New York, Texas, Wyoming, Utah and Florida—anchored off Tompkinsville, Staten Island, where they awaited their turn for berths at the navy yard. The war games, according to Captain William Rawle Shoemaker of the Arkansas, were satisfactory from every standpoint. It was the first time, he said, that the fleet had ever maneuvered in actual war trim. Nothing had marred the smoothness of the trials. The photograph of the stern of the Wyoming was made from the Manhattan bridge over the East river, New York.]

New Record In United States Foreign Trade

Export Figures Almost Double Those Of September Last Year

Washington, Oct. 22.—Impressive new high records in export trade of the United States were disclosed when the department of commerce made public figures on the exports and imports for September and comparative periods. The figures show September exports were $297,766,750 and exceeded by $79,526,749 the total for September, 1913, and by $141,714,417 that for September, 1914. September imports this year aggregated $151,422,831, being less than $19,682,012 than those of September, 1913, and more by $11,712,220 than those of September last year.

Nine months exports this year totaled $2,529,575,095, compared with $1,467,401,989 last year and $1,733,422,158 two years ago. Imports for the nine months period of 1915 were valued at $1,302,281,591 against $1,410,671,874 last year and $1,327,395,071 two years ago.

The September export balance was $146,343,919 being nine times as much as the export balance of $16,341,722 in September, 1914, and only $41,693,371 short of the export balance for the entire fiscal year 1910.

STATE RIFLE TEAM LOST BY FOUR MARKS

ILLINOIS MILITIA SHARP SHOOTERS MADE GREAT SHOWING IN MEET.

SALISBURY IS MEMBER OF TEAM

When "cease firing" sounded on the Florida rifle range Thursday, the world's greatest shooting classic ended, with the United States infantry team, which finished in the lead at the termination of the short range stage, the winner by three points over the marines. The United States cavalry team was third.

The regular service teams by finishing in this order demonstrated their superiority over the national guard teams. This, no doubt, was due to the fact that they have a larger organization to pick from and better facilities for organizing efficient teams.

Course in Final Stage.

The course of the national team match which was completed this afternoon was ten shots rapid fire at 200 and 300 yards and fifteen shots slow fire at 300, 600 and 1000 yards.

Illinois Team in Money.

The Illinois state team, of which Frank Salisbury of this city is a member, was third in the class B events, with a total score of 3559, for which they won twelve medals and $225 in cash, the class B events being won by the Pennsylvania team which got four more points than Illinois.

The Illinois team also stood sixth in the general events with total scores of 2822, putting up a gallant fight.

The Illinois team put up a gallant fight for the first place in class B and the decision could not be rendered until the last shot was fired. The standing of the Illinois team members follows:

Felt, 304; Bittel, 304; Meyer, 304; Wingerter, 302; Rosenwick, 306; Clinning, 298; Melville, 298; Moore, 296; Salisbury, 294; Smith 294; Peterson, 288; Fife, 277.

Salisbury led the Illinois team in the work at the 300-yard range.

JURY FOUND HAMPTON GUILTY; SENTENCE IS ONE YEAR IN PRISON

YOUNG FELLOW CONVICTED OF RAPE IN CIRCUIT COURT TODAY.

LAST JURY TRIAL PROGRESSES

Charges of Riot Against Harmon Young Men Prosecuted Today.

A jury in the circuit court this afternoon found Roland Hampton guilty of rape, as charged in the indictment and his punishment was fixed at one year in the penitentiary. His attorney, H. A. Brooks, at once filed the customary petition for a new trial and arguments on the petition will be heard next Friday.

The complainant in the case, Della Baker, was placed on the stand at the opening of court this morning, the jury having been secured before the adjournment of court Thursday afternoon. The closing arguments by the attorneys were concluded about noon and the case was given to the jury just before noon.

Thursday afternoon Judge Farrand granted the petition of Harold Heckart of Ashton to be released on probation. Heckart had been found guilty of the theft of automobile tires to the value of $40 from a garage in Ashton.

After dinner the criminal cases against Leo Mongoven, Wm. McCormick and Ernest Kelly of Harmon, indicted for riot, were called. The men are charged with having attacked Harry Ostrander about a year ago. Ostrander was one of the village trustees and the young men are alleged to have taken the opportunity to try to get even with him for a grievance they held against him. All jurors not accepted in this case were discharged for the term, this being the last jury trial. As there are but few witnesses in the case it is believed it will be concluded today.

NIAGARA FALLS.

Niagara Falls is a small body of water stood up on end and entirely surrounded by mountains.

It is the largest piece of perpendicular rock in the world and were it not for the noise made by tourists and hotel runners it could be heard for many miles.

Niagara Falls is the terminus of navigation on the Great Lakes. At a point within easy walking distance of 1100 hotels the Niagara river, half a mile wide, suddenly falls without any warning what ever over a precipice 164 feet high, forming the grandest sight in the universe, not excepting the horseshoe circle at the New York Grand Opera. It is estimated that 500,000 people a year visit this cataract and most of them encourage it by having their photographs taken while standing beside it with an air of approval.

Niagara Falls was discovered by La Salle, who became aware of its presence while trying to paddle a canoe from Montreal to the Gulf of Mexico. He remained several months in the vicinity and came away without buying a single picture post-card, thus making a record which has never since been equaled. At this time Niagara was in a very wild and uncivilized state. Shortly after the Revolution, however, the cataract was captured by the backmen and has been in a state of captivity ever since. No cataract on earth has been so abused. It has been bridged, tunneled, navigated, jumped over, tight roped and illuminated. For fifty cents one may ride up to it in a boat from below and puff cigar smoke in its face. For a dollar one can go down behind it in a rubber suit and feel of its ribs. Once the Indians were shipped it and called it a god. Now tourists ride around it in trolley cars and the excursionists throw ham sandwiches in it as a boy would throw peanuts to an elephant.

Not only is Niagara Falls abused, but it is cruelly oppressed. It must turn the wheels of a hundred factories. It runs the electric cars of Buffalo. It cooks the meals of Buffalo on electric ranges, beats the milk for the Buffalo babies, does the washing and runs the sewing machines in ten thousand homes, an act night, when other toilers are in bed, it must supply the lights for half a hundred cities, while an operator in overalls turns a searchlight on it and exhibits it to tourists at 25 cents apiece.

All this in New York state, which spends $100,000 a year protecting the horse from overwork.

Geologists say that Niagara Falls will last about 1,543,000 years longer but even geologists can't tell what the legislators will do. Almost half the water of Niagara is now being snaked around through the power houses, and if it hadn't been for the pen of the newspaper man, which is mightier than the pull of the power hog, all the water would have been sold by this time. Even now it is only a question of time until the name "Niagara Falls" must be changed to "Niagara Trickles," and when the great cataract will only be run on Sundays and holidays.

DEMENTTOWN DOINGS

These fine autumn days are all right—and believe us, there is also some class to the nights.

Can't Please Us.
In summer we long for the days in the fall when the heat and the dust have departed; the time when the swatting of flies will have ceased, and the ice on the lake is well started. We long for the crack of the fire in the grate and the glare of the homely base burner; the time when the odors from kitchens suggest the reign of griddle and turner. We long for the day when the mercury says that the temperature's down below freezing; when the frost puts a crimp in the suffering and tears that come with hay fever and sneezing. We long for the day when we cease to perspire, when the sun will dispense with its trying; when the lid will be clamped on the mowing of lawn and the leaves on the trees will be dying. We'll long for those days till their cold biting blasts cause our bodies to call for more covers; and then we'll pine and we'll sigh for the days by and by when we won't have to shiver and hover.

U.S.W.V CHIEF WORKS TO INCREASE SERVICE

URGES MEMBERS TO GREATER EFFORTS OF CO-OPERATION AND USEFULNESS

L. C. Dyer, Commander-in-Chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, has instituted a campaign to make the organization more useful to its members and the public, as will be seen from the following letter he has sent to all members:

My Dear Comrades:
As your Commander-in-Chief, I want to be of the greatest possible use, service and benefit. I want every comrade to feel at liberty to write me directly and make suggestions and recommendations for the best interests of the order. I want every comrade, Camp and Department, to work as never before before to build up and make strong the U. S. W. V. Get the former members back by liberal concessions, add new ones, and in every way show a comradel and fraternal spirit. Banish harsh words, jealousy, and dissension forever from the meetings of the Camp. Be comrades in all respects. Labor for the organization, our comrades living and dead, and the widows and orphans of those needing our loving care. We cannot be of much use to ourselves or to the dependents of those whose memory we hold sacred, unless we greatly increase our membership and be efficient. Work! my comrades, work! Get new members, bring back the old, send in requisition for needed supplies, and pay your per capita tax promptly. Send me the names of comrades who have left the Camp or those who are not members, and I will write them a personal letter pointing out the great benefits of being a member of our splendid and beloved U. S. W. V.

Dramatic Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight the Princess will show a 2-reel Mustang feature entitled "Breezy Bill, Outcast," a gripping story of the west with J. Richardson, Wm. Stowell and Helene Rosson in the leading roles. It is the story of a western desperado who lives alone, who supposes this man to be her father and later finds she is mistaken. The other pictures are the Mutual Weekly, showing current events throughout the world, together with splendid scenes from the war zone; and a Mutual comedy, "Kidnaped at the Church," which is very laughable.

FAMILY THEATRE.

"The Kreutzer Sonata" will be the feature photoplay at the Family this evening. No children will be admitted. This is taken from Count Leo Tolstoy's great drama. It is a wonderfully compelling and heart gripping story about the life of his heroine, Miriam, a young Russian girl. Through an unfortunate love affair Miriam is threatened with disgrace. Her father induces Gregor Randor, a struggling musician, to marry her, for a money consideration and the couple go to America where they are later followed by Miriam's family, including Celia, her sister. Between Celia and Gregor a clandestine love affair develops. Despite their secrecy the wife discovers the truth and torn between love of her little boy and outraged pride, she confronts her fickle husband and unnatural sister. Her revivings and the renunciations of her father are alike unavailing and at last, driven to desperation, she takes vengeance into her own hands.

In the above play are three great stars, Theda Bara, Nance O'Neil and Wm. Shay, artists who have made a great reputation in the dramatic world.

The management wishes to announce that children will not be admitted this evening.

The matinees given every afternoon are becoming very popular.

The vaudeville will be completely changed and the following will appear: Mac McGowan, singing; the Packard Four, singing, talking and dancing; Thompson & Berri, comedy, singing and talking; Mabel Elliott, refined novelty act.

Football followers are promised an exceptionally interesting game at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon when the Dixon union high school team will meet the Prophetstown high organization. Prophetstown is said to have one of the best teams in its history this season and the local boys will be forced to put up their best game. Every member of the Dixon bunch wants to win, too, to even up on the season's games, which now show two defeats to one victory.

TURKS ACCUSE ARMENIANS

Charge Many Atrocities Were Committed on Caucasus Front.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The Turkish embassy issued an official report from the general Ottoman headquarters charging that many atrocities have been committed against the Moslems on the frontier of the Caucasus by Russian troops, assisted by the Greek and Armenian population. Bands of Russians, Greeks, and Armenians are accused of attacking many women and having pierced the cheeks of babes so that they starved to death.

Tortures of the middle ages are said to have been revived by Armenians in Azot.

ANTON LANG, PASSION PLAY LEADER, KILLED

World Famous Interpreter of Life of Christ War Victim.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 22.—Anton Lang, who became world famous through his interpretation of the life of Christ in the Passion Play given at Oberammergau, has been killed in battle, according to word received by his cousin, Alois Lang of this city, from the German government.

Lang fell in battle among the corps of troops equipped with skis which the German army formed to combat the French chasseur alpins in the Vosges mountains. The message was sent by the German government and is considered authentic in spite of reports of several months ago that the Christus had never joined the Kaiser's troops.

Anton Lang played the greatest roll of the Passion Play twice, the first time in 1909 and again at the last presentation in 1910. He was the natural choice for the next play five years hence. In private life, which means during the ten years that elapse between each of the plays that the Oberammergau peasants give, he was a potter. His shop and his bench were perhaps the most widely photographed and post-carded of all the German tourist spots.

"HELLO, PARIS!" WIRELESS

Human Voice Heard from Arlington, Va., to Eiffel Tower.

New York, Oct. 22.—Another epochal achievement in wireless international communication was announced by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. At 12:55 a. m., just about three weeks after the human voice was heard at Honolulu by wireless from Arlington, Va., observers listening at the Eiffel tower, in Paris heard an engineer of the company greet them at the Arlington station 3,800 miles away.

The Paris observers cabled confirmation of the fact to this country and word was received also that the Honolulu engineers listening at the same time had heard Arlington say: "Hello" to Paris.

Mix the Breakfast Biscuits the Night Before—

Set Them Away in a Cool Place and Bake them Fresh in the Morning

If the family do not all eat breakfast together, you can bake a few at a time. If you are having hot biscuits for supper, mix and cut out enough more for breakfast. They will be much nicer freshly baked than warmed over.

Of course you can't do this very successfully with sour milk and soda or with any of the old fashioned, single acting baking powders, but this convenient way of making hot biscuits and muffins for breakfast is entirely satisfactory if you use which is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which begins to give off leavening gas as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. The dough will remain in a partly leavened condition for hours and when put in the oven will come up just as light and fluffy as if freshly mixed.

K.C. BAKING POWDER

Get a can of K.C. today and try this easy way of baking biscuits at once. You'll never go back to the old way.

JUNIORS WILL EAT.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Hallowe'en Masque

The moon, if it had any chance at all among so many jack-o-lanterns, shown through the windows, of Armory hall last evening on a fete set dom exceled in gayety and uniqueness of costume, the North Dixon Seniors' Hallowe'en masque given to the other classes of the high school and the Senior class of 1915. More than a hundred in all, clowns, Pierrots, and gypsies of every conceivable tribe, held high revel in the hall where a fit setting was made by the autumn leaves, cornstalks, jack-o-lanterns, and other Hallowe'en decorations.

The grand march, the premier in the evening's festivities, was led by Miss Elizabeth Barge and Merritt Lord, dressed quaintly as a couple of the olden time, Miss Barge in a light blue costume with the full skirt and tight bodice of the 1840 and a bonnet of the same period and Mr. Lord in an old fashioned evening suit. The grand march was a sight well worth seeing, with clowns and nuns, gypsies and fairies, marching side by side. The gold dust twins were there in the persons of Misses Miriam Lapham and Jennie Harding and they took the head prize for the girls, a box of candy. Another box of candy was awarded to William Barge who in a girl's costume, was simply "too charming."

During the evening the Misses Cook served refreshments in a side room which was also decorated in accordance with the Hallowe'en festivities. A buffet had been arranged, lighted with candles shaded in orange, and bearing huge pumpkins laden with fruit and baskets of doughnuts.

Mrs. Eugene Raymond, Mrs. John Laing, Mrs. W. H. Coppins, and Mrs. James Sterling poured the coffee.

The chaperons were: Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wingert, Mr. and Mrs. John Remington, Mr. and Mrs. John Laing, Dr. and Mrs. Ives, Mrs. O. H. Brown, Miss Charlotte Laing, Miss Marjorie Wingert and Edgar Patrick.

Miss Kiehn was a faithful member of the class for many years before moving to Minnesota and the members were much pleased to see her again and to welcome her to their class meeting.

After the business meeting a short program was rendered. Miss Ethel Kay and Miss Grace Johnson each favored with a piano solo, Mrs. Winnifred Frey gave three readings, an Irish and a negro dialect reading, and one entitled, "Two Chimneys," two vocal solos were given by Mrs. Mabel Johnson and a reading by Miss Helen Davis closed the program. Light refreshments were served by the hostesses, ending a very pleasant evening.

With Mrs. Lowden

The Lighthouse Aided, hll Bavis, ral Twenty-six ladies, members of the Lighthouse Aid society, were most delightfully entertained by Mrs. F. O. Lowden at Sinnissippi farm Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5:30 o'clock.

One of the pleasures of the afternoon was the walk through the path way by the riverside up to "Hill Top", the beautiful little white cottage home Mrs. Lowden maintains for unfortunate city children. We came away feeling that it is not so unfortunate to be one among these children whom Mrs. Lowden loves and cares for so beautifully.

After coffee, following our return the manifest pleasure shown in a visit with Miss Frances to the children's playhouse, proved conclusively that "We are all but children of a larger growth."

Hallowe'en Party

Miss Olive Graehling will give a Hallowe'en party this evening of fourteen of her friends. The Graehling home has been transferred into a veritable haunt of witches and ghosts. Chains of oak leaves hang from the chandelier to the corners of the room in the library and form the portieres between the library and dining room which is gay with orange and black crepe paper. The banisters of the hall are wreathed in oak leaves and shocks of corn stand in the corners of the hall, library, and dining room, while black cats, witches and bats, and jack-o-lanterns add the needful touch of weirdness, intensified by the darkening glow of the electric lights by orange crepe paper shades.

Many new games have been planned for the amusement of the guests while in a booth in the dining room the witches' caldron will boil forth its fortunes of good or ill. Refreshments in keeping with the Hallowe'en idea will be served.

CANAL NOT A WAR ASSET.

With the Panama canal closed, at least until the first of the year, and possibly for an indefinite period thereafter, what becomes of the argument of those small navy men who have been contending any additions to the fleet because, as they have said, the big ditch has doubled the fighting strength of our floating defenses and such additions are no longer necessary?

Does not the present trouble at the canal bring a certain amount of compensation in the timely warning it gives of the danger of accepting any such argument or depending in time of stress on so slender a support as a single, easily disarranged waterway between two oceans—a waterway which is, and for a long time must be, little more than an experiment?

Suppose the American government, counting on the stability of the Panama canal, should send its fleet to the Pacific ocean, and finding itself suddenly embroiled with one of the European states should attempt to transfer its ships again to the Atlantic, only to find the passageway through the isthmus blocked by slides. Or suppose even a divided fleet unable to amalgamate into an effective fighting machine. What would be the result? Instead of greater potency afloat because of our possession of the Panama canal, we might find ourselves reduced to helplessness as a direct reward of our industry and a prey to any nation able to send an ordinary squadron of warships across the Atlantic. Instead of an asset, we would find the canal proving a heavy, if not fatal, liability.

The lesson of the slides is that the Panama canal must not be considered a piece of defensive armament. For even if the slides should cease and the canal be made fairly dependable for ordinary times, it would be no more difficult in war for an enemy to destroy its usefulness by the use of explosives than it has been for nature to clog it with mud. At the best, the ditch always is likely to be a fragile piece of furniture which will need more protection than it can provide, and the one safe basis for the building up of our fleet is the assumption that it has no strategic value. The present program of the administration, a navy big enough to protect both the east and the west, is the only prudent one.

If we have such a navy, then if the canal shall perchance develop strategic value, it may be accounted as unexpected good luck, to be received with all due gratitude to the goddess of chance.—Detroit Free Press.

FROM NOTHING TO BILLIONS.

A hundred years ago there was not a single dollar deposited in savings banks in America, for there were no such institutions. The first one was founded in this city in 1816, New York and Boston followed the example of Philadelphia the same year.

Plans are already under way for a celebration by the American Bankers' association of the centenary of the founding of the institutions. No anniversary is more worthy of public notice, for the increase in savings banks deposits for a hundred years shows how much of the wealth of the workers remains in their hands.

They had to their credit in the banks only $1,138,000 in 1820, four years after the opportunity of putting their money at interest in a safe place was offered to them. It was not until 1883 that their accumulations amounted to a billion dollars. The second billion was accumulated in the next fifteen years. It took them only eight years more to pile up the third, five years sufficed for the fourth, and four years for the fifth billion.

More than 11,000,000 of the people have deposits in these savings banks, with an average deposit of nearly $500 each.—Philadelphia Ledger.

COOK'S SON; DUKE'S SON.

Perhaps—we say perhaps—Rudyard Kipling, whose life work has been so full of the urging to patriotism and devotion to England, will find in the sacrifice of a son a realization of what he has ever preached and that through this realization the worst bitterness of his loss may be taken away. We hope this may be the case but somehow we fear that human devotion will scarcely go that far. We even fear the author would quickly give up his "Recessional" and "Soldiers Three," his "Barrack Room Ballads," his "Jungle Book" and "They," his fame and his name even, were it possible, for the safe return of that boy whom the world ignored.

Kipling's "only" son—That is the saddest word. To wait eighteen years for the flowering of a single plant and then have it uprooted by the hurricane in the very hour of its budding, is a sorrow that time cannot mend. There is no seed left of the tree, no sprout that in time might develop into planthood. The Kipling blood, that, if not in this generation, in the next, or the next might have produced new fruit, will be forever lost to the world.

The war spares neither the great nor the rich just as it spares neither the poor nor the lowly in its hideous demands.—New Orleans Picayune.

WORSE THAN THE ABUSED POSTOFFICE PEN.

The one thing that makes approaching winter seem less horrible is the encouraging fact that those little circular screen doors that blind the revolving doors at the east entrance of the postoffice will probably have to be taken down. Why it is necessary to put screen doors on revolving doors we can not see, although it may save a few innocent flies from a grisly death in the mill. The doors are apparently designed to trap patrons of the office into an untimely end. The designer must have worked the plan out in his sleep, during a nightmare, or else had a hideously keen appetite for the torture of his fellows. We wish he had to come out through these doors with his arms full of mail every morning.

TAMMANY AND THE STATE.

Tammany Hall, it is reported, is to build its new wigwam on West Fifty-seventh street, on the site of the old Central Presbyterian church. This is not exactly a case of superseding church by state. Tammany cannot say, "The state; it is I," with quite the assurance it once could. But you never can tell.—Springfield Republican.

GERMANS CLOSE ON PORT OF RIGA

The report that Strumitsa has been captured by the allies as been denied in Sofia and Saloniki.

Serbs Not Discouraged.
French and British officers who have returned to Saloniki from the Serbian front declare the Serbs are not discouraged and are fighting desperately, one sector of the enemy gaining only eight miles in nine days. "I would not advise you to bet 10 cents that Serbia will be crushed," said one officer.

Doubt Greek Aid.
The London press expresses doubt if Greece will join the allies under any consideration and the Times states that it understands the offer to cede

Cyprus to Greece has been rejected. Suggestions that the British fleet enforce England's representations are again heard.

Germans Repulsed.
The Germans yesterday unsuccessfully attacked French positions near Givinchy, says today's Paris report.

May Mean Defeat.
The announcement that the Bulgars had driven their opponents over the Vardar may mean defeat for the entente troops which were reported to have advanced to that point, though it is reported that the allied troops fli until the arrival of more troops.

London, Oct. 22.—After weeks of hammering at the Russian positions south of Riga, Field Marshal von Hindenburg has occupied the left bank of Dyvina northeast of Migan. The Berlin war office officially announces their success, which again places the Russian port in peril of capture. Berlin, however, admits that in Galicia at the southern end of the eastern battle line the forces of the Kaiser have been compelled to retreat before the advancing Muscovites. This confirms Russian claims of victory along the Styx.

3,537 Germans Captured.
Nearly four thousand Germans have been captured in the central part of the eastern battle line, Petrograd announces.

The Russian official statement says: "In the districts southeast of Baranovichi our troops, after a dashing surprise attack, captured German positions near the villages of Ekimovichi, Odoknorschina, Noviki and Nagnoria. In the course of the day we took eighty-five German and Austrian officers and 3,532 men prisoners, in addition to capturing ten quick-firers and one gun."

Baranovichi is in the central part of the Russian line north of the Pripiet River.

Through the arrival of Austrian prisoners in Kieff it has been learned that the Austro-German forces are operating a fleet of small steamers on the Dniester in the Pinsk region. The prisoners were captured while on board one of these steamers, which was ambushed by Russians.

U. S. Red Cross to Russia.
A party of American Red Cross workers, including nine doctors and thirty-nine nurses, with three carloads of equipments, is on its way to Petrograd to work among the German wounded prisoners of war in Russia.

Suggests Annexation Of Santo Domingo Help Porto Ricans

(Associated Press)

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Porto Rico is becoming so overcrowded that, considering both the area and industrial development, the island is the most densely populated region in the world, according to Governor Arthur Yager of Porto Rico, who addressed the Lake Mohonk conference on Indians and Other Dependent Peoples today, asserting that the only effective remedy for the situation was the transferring of large numbers of Porto Ricans to some other region. He suggested Santo Domingo and went so far as to suggest the possible annexation of Santo Domingo to the United States, but he believed that a treaty arrangement whereby Porto Ricans could emigrate to Santo Domingo would be the preferable solution.

After calling attention to the excessive population of Porto Rico, approximately one and one-quarter millions, Gov. Yager said:

"It seems to me that those of us who are responsible for the future of the islands should face this problem now. In my judgment it is not only important but it is urgent. With the population already pressing hard upon the means of employment, if any calamity should befall any of the island's industries there would result more serious suffering among the laboring people of Porto Rico than the insular government could possibly relieve, with the means at command. Serbs Fight Until Last.

A Nis dispatch via London says it is officially announced that the losses of the Austro-German invading army have reached 60,000 killed, wounded and prisoners, and that the invaders have been repulsed.

The reason for the small number of prisoners being taken in Serbia is due to the fact, says a Berlin correspondent, that the Serbs rarely surrender but fight to the last, "resulting in the wildest fighting, unparalleled on any front."

Several Austro-German positions and 7,500 men have been captured by the Russians on the southern front, Petrograd says.

NEW HEATING BOILER.

A large new boiler arrived today for the heating plant at the Nachusa Tavern and will be put in place immediately. It is much larger than the one taken out in order to take care of the addition now being constructed.

QUARANTINE LIFE.

The scarlet fever quarantine at the home of Clifford Poisel in Nelson township was raised by the health officers today.

for example, a cyclone should devastate the coffee plantations, as actually happened in 1899, the situation might become critical.

"Or, if as now seems certain, under the recent tariff law, the protective duty on sugar should be abolished, and the decline of that great industry which everybody predicts should actually take place, the problem of feeding the unemployed in the island soon would become serious.

"I do not hesitate to express my belief that the only really effective remedy is the transfer of large numbers of Porto Ricans to some other region. I do not believe that there is in history any such instance of a country that has reached the over-crowded condition in which Porto Rico stands, that ever escaped from it without the aid of emigration. Whatever can be done in other ways to improve conditions should still be done, but those things alone will not solve the problem."

After explaining that the need of emigration was not a new idea and that 5,000 Porto Ricans were taken to the Hawaiian Islands in 1901 and that others had been taken to Mexico, but that these attempts had failed chiefly because there had been no sifting or selection of the emigrants, Gov. Yager asserted that Santo Domingo offered the most promising field for starting a Porto Rican colony if satisfactory arrangements could be made with that country.

This was the declaration of Colonel Hipolito Villa when asked if his brother, leader of the Villa faction in northern Mexico, would heed the advice of friends in New York and disband his revolution and quit the country. Colonel Villa is his brother's purchasing agent and personal representative in Juarez. He declared that General Villa is now well on his way into Sonora with his forces, and asserted that "Carranza and his troops will soon be driven from Sonora."

Villa Cut Entirely Off.

The embargo on arms and ammunition remained in effect and not a cartridge went across the line to the Villa forces unless it was smuggled. General Villa is known to be so short of ammunition that he cannot put up even a respectable battle for Agua Prieta, the Carranza port of entry in Arizona which, it is asserted, his army is heading for. Unless he can get more ammunition American army officers here do not believe his opposition to Carranza will last long, considering that Villa holds no seaport and all American ports are now blockaded to him. Juarez is the only port in possession of the entire Villa "army" which has dwindled to a very few thousand men.

Family Reunion in Jail.

Atlantic, La., Oct. 22.—By a strange coincidence two brothers and a brother-in-law met in the county jail here. ## TEACHING SPARROWS TO SING.

Bird Raised With Canaries Learned to Imitate Them.

A series of interesting experiments in which English sparrows have been taught to sing sweetly is recorded by Dr. Conrad. The aim of the experimenter has been to determine what are the conditions under which birds learn and cling to their traditional notes. For this purpose, says the American Journal of Psychology, he has taken very young birds of non-musical species and kept them entirely with songsters, to determine whether they would thus acquire the musical notes.

In July, 1893, he put four fledgling English sparrows into the nest of a pair of singing canaries. Three of them died, but the fourth survived. This one had already acquired a sparrow chirp; but hearing thenceforth only the notes of the canary, he went no further with the language which was his birthright. Instead he came gradually when among the canaries, to give notes different from sparrow talk. Even when he was silent, if the canaries were singing he could be seen moving his throat, as if he were trying to form the sounds, much as a person often inaudibly follows a song which another is singing. At last, these sounds began to be audible, and increasingly so. He began to give notes in rapid succession, three or four tones up the scale, and then repeating the top note five or six times.

Growing bolder with practice and the sound of his own voice, he soon indulged three or four times in succession, with eight to twelve notes in each; and in the last days of September, when three months old, he went up and down and down and up the scale, all in one run.

All this while his voice had been changing. At first it was harsh, as is natural with English sparrows; but gradually, with the effort or with the subconscious influence of the sweeter sounds about him, it became softer and acquired something of the canary quality.

At first he sang on a low scale and tried the top notes vainly; but, as his voice became milder he went higher more easily. He was three months old when, growing bold, he essayed his first trill. It was short but musical, and he evidently liked it, for he repeated it and continued steadily to practise it. It was done modestly, and after each trill he sat still and appeared to be listening. A year later, however, when the report was being written by the experimenter, he had grown to be quite an adept in canary song, and would trill and sing continually punctuating his song with complete circles and semi-circles on his perch.

To try the effect of association upon him, Dr. Conrad removed him for a time, in his first year, from the canaries, and put him where he heard only sparrow chatter. Gradually he ceased to sing and began to return to the neglected sparrow tongue, but when he was again hung with the canaries he regained all he had lost in less than a month.

From Ibsen's Letters.

Many interesting characteristics of Henry Ibsen are shown in a recently published volume of his letters. For instance, while the dramatist was miserably poor in his early life that circumstance did not reconcile him to poverty. In later years he established what in America would be called a press agency. His letters prove that he often employed his friends in the capacity of agent, Lorenz Dietrichsen, as early as 1869, receiving his appeal: "They have applied to me for such information, but I do not care to give it myself, and Mr. Siebold is, of course, not sufficiently acquainted with the facts of the case. You can understand that the matter is one of considerable interest to me. Therefore it is that I come to you, as my old friend. String some facts together, dear old fellow, in a manner that will suit the Germans. Write as favorably as your conscience will permit. The starving-poet business is no good nowadays; tell about my pension from the government and the storthing. Tell that I am traveling, and that I am for the time being 'In dem grossen Vaterland, etc.'"

In a letter to Laura Kieler, also a writer, he says: "Is it your intention to pursue the career of an author? For this something else and something more is required than talent. One must have something to create from, some life experience. The author who has not that does not create; he only writes books. Now I know very well that a life led in solitude is not a life devoid of experiences. The human being is, however, in the spiritual sense, a long-sighted creature; we see most clearly at a distance; the details confuse; we must get away from what we desire to judge; one describes summer best on a winter's day."

Many of the letters display the author's natural pride, this one not dealing with poetry at all, but a dishonored draft: "Yesterday, however, Raynkilde received an extremely scornful, insolent, and, to a certain extent, inexplicable letter from Baetzman, who returned the draft, making use of the expression: 'This sort of thing won't do here'—words one might use if one caught a swindler in the act of doing some rascally trick which one could prevent. But such words must not be written about me. The man who said them to me I would kill on the spot."

BULLET STRUCK LINCOLN.

Hitherto Unpublished Story of President Under Fire at Ft. Stevens.

To all but a few—certainly not more than a score, perhaps not more than a dozen—it is news that Abraham Lincoln was hit by a bullet fired by a Confederate soldier in battle. The histories do not record it, nor the biographies. Those who saw the occurrence thought little of it at the time, so pressing was the work they had in hand and the president is not known ever afterward to have mentioned the incident.

On the morning of July 12, 1864, a young Lieutenant Colonel of the Sixty-fifth New York Volunteers, standing just outside Ft. Stevens, one of the series of forts that completely surrounded and guarded Washington, saw President Lincoln walk fearlessly among his soldiers, discussing the conditions and circumstances of the then impending attack upon the city by Lieutenant General Early and his Confederate forces while a battle raged outside the breastworks.

Watching with the curiosity of a soldier who had seen his president but twice before the colonel was alarmed when he saw him hit by a bullet which had sped through the air from the camp of the enemy. The young officer was William P. Roome, who was adjutant general and chief of staff of Major General Upton. Colonel Roome now lives at 114 West Eighty-sixth street.

Colonel Roome's story is as follows: "In July, 1864, Early, with orders from Lee, started from Lynchburg, went down the Shenandoah Valley, fought a battle at Harper's Ferry, and also on the Monocacy River, and was to make a demonstration against Washington. It was thought that if he could arrive with his force and find the forts above the city not fully occupied (as they were not) it would result in a great Northern scare, a strengthening of the Confederacy, and possibly even greater results. He arrived in front of Washington, opposite Ft. Stevens, on July 11, in the afternoon. In order that they might be fully prepared to take action, they decided to rest the men that night, and make the demonstration the following day. Their movements were all known to Grant.

"The Sixth Corps of the army of the Potomac was detached from that army in front of Petersburg, and sent to thwart any demonstration that might be made by Early. One division of the Sixth Corps was left in Baltimore, because the demonstration was intended to be against that city and Philadelphia as well. The other two divisions arrived in Washington in detachments on steamers from the 10th to the 12th. The first and second divisions were immediately sent to Ft. Stevens, which was about four miles from the White House.

"The First Division, to which I belonged, remained in reserve in the vicinity of the fort; the other was sent out in front. The country stretching away from the fort to the north was first a gentle decline, then a little plane for some way, with hills in the distance. Every detail of the movement of the two divisions—ours and one of Early's—could be seen plainly from the fort, while the participants themselves could see only what was occurring in their immediate front.

"There was thus unfolded a panorama of war—a battle in progress. In the distance a house was set afire by the artillery, and formed a prominent feature of the picture.

"The engagement was sufficiently far from the fort to make a bullet that came to it practically harmless. One illustration was interesting, as showing the degree of danger in our position, and also the comparative effect of the emotions of curiosity and fear in women. A large tree which had been felled very close to where I stood lay in a horizontal position to the works, and behind it two women, apparently mother and daughter, had taken refuge. They would look with open-mouthed interest at the movement of the troops, when singing through the air would come a bullet. Its hum would arouse the emotion of fear, and instantly they would crouch down to the ground behind the protecting tree trunk, only to rise, inch by inch, as the fear of the bullets passed and curiosity became supreme.

"At about that time President Lincoln arrived. He was accompanied, I think, by at least two members of the cabinet, though I did not know them. They halted but a few yards from my position, at the side of the road that led from the fort. From where the president stood he could see the panorama I have described.

"The fire from the enemy was thick and fast, and the cracking almost continuous. Most of it fell short of the inclosure.

While so standing, one of these bullets, fired at long range by a Confederate, struck the president on the thigh. The force was not sufficient to wound him; in fact, I doubt if it pierced his trousers. The bullet fell to the ground. President Lincoln paid no attention to it other than to glance down and permit a smile to linger for a moment on his face.

"Young as I was, I remember distinctly the interest I took in watching that noble countenance, and wondering what thoughts were passing through his mind as he saw men falling and saw what never had been revealed to him before, the actual conflict of troops in battle.

"Undoubtedly the president at that time stood in a position of danger, as one of those bullets might have been fatal with a slightly additional force. If one had struck him in the eye it would easily have proved fatal."

WHEN A TIRE BURST IN INDIA.

Exciting Experience of a Party of Automobileists.

A thrilling story of how the side- slipping of a motor car nearly resulted in a man being roasted alive, is told in Motoring Illustrated. The incident occurred in Duhli, a village on the road from Delhi to Bombay. The car was being driven slowly past a Jain temple, amid the whooping of the natives and the beating of tom-toms.

"At the temple entrance," stood two priests, regarding us with no friendly visage. Bang! and our back tire has burst—a deep rut in the road has caught the wheel, too. In a moment we swerve around, and, horror! smash right into the temple door. Alas! we have committed sacrilege, and of the worst kind.

"We set to work to repair the tire, and just as we have finished a heart-rending, ear-piercing shriek rings out from the temple inclosure. We rush in, brushing aside two juvenile priests who try to stop our progress. A crowd of white-robed priests stand us and the inner sanctuary. But the three of us are old football players; the priests are down like nine-pins.

"We tear the curtain aside and stand for a moment rooted with horror. There on a rude altar our poor native motor boy is being literally roasted alive. Only a second's pause to take in the situation and with a rush we are on them.

"Seizing the uplifted knife from the nearest fanatic, we cut the leather strings and lift the fainting sacrifice from the altar. Then we beat the priests off, regain our car, and ride away amid a shower of missiles.

The Zuni Indians' Great Feast.

The medicine men among the Zuni Indians perform a feat at the annual 'corn festival' which surpasses the famous mango-growing trick of the Hindu. Many scientists have been present to witness this strange ceremony, but have never been able to fathom the mystery of it.

In front of the southern opening of the medicine lodge a large square of clean yellow sand, carefully smoothed and packed, is spread. A ceremonial arrow points, representing the Great Spirit, the earth, sun, sky and rain, are drawn. There are also the symbols of the corn and a bountiful harvest. The indentations made by the arrow are then filled in with pigments, blue for the sky and clouds, black for the earth and chrome yellow for the harvest. The middle of the square is left vacant. This picture in sand painting is a most pleasing specimen of barbaric art.

The hour for the ceremony arrives, and at the right moment the medicine man comes forth from his lodge and takes a seat in the opening of the lodge, facing the sand square. The warriors and chiefs arrange themselves around the square, according to rank. The ceremonial pipe is then filled and lighted, and the medicine man blows one puff in each direction of the compass and two to the heavens. He then makes an address, going over the past history of the tribe and the kindness of the Great Spirit and his care. He concludes with a prayer for the continuance of this favor.

The great moment has arrived. With impressive solemnity the medicine man thrusts the sacred arrow into the sand, withdraws it and places a grain of corn in the hole thus made. Carefully smoothing the sand over it, he resumes his seat, while the assembled chiefs smoke their pipes in stolid silence. If the Great Spirit condescends to answer the prayer of the medicine man, and he generally does, the corn will sprout and send up a shoot. After an interval of fifteen or twenty minutes the sand seems disturbed at the spot where the grain of corn was planted and soon the slender green blades of the sprouting corn are seen above the surface. The plant continues to grow rapidly and naturally during the day, and by the next sunrise the silk and tassels appear. By noon the stalk and ear have reached full maturity and the ripening begins. Finally the blades and husks turn yellow and rattle when the wind shakes them. All this, we must bear in mind, has been done in thirty-six hours. On the morning of the second day the corn growing is complete. The medicine man now addresses the watchers who in company with him have watched the plant grow, for it is never left alone. With appropriate ceremonies he symbolizes the harvest by stripping ear from the husk and placing the corn in his bag for future use. The stalk is pulled up by the roots and hung over the door of the lodge.

A Parnell Anecdote.

This of Parnell is told by William O'Brien:

"One evening I happened to mention at dinner that I had got a note informing me that two of my subeditor's children were down with scarlatina. 'My God! O'Brien,' he cried almost in a panic, 'what did you do with the letter?' When I told him that it was still in my pocket he begged me instantly to throw it into the fire. Seeing how genuine was his concern I did so. 'Now,' said he, 'wash your hands.' This time I found it difficult to avoid smiling. He bounded from the dinner table and with his own hands emptied the water ewer into the basin on the wash hand stand. 'For God's sake, O'Brien,' he cried, holding out the towel toward me, with an earnestness that set the whole company in a roar. He returned to his dinner in a state of supreme satisfaction.

TWO MUCH REGULATION IN PRIVATE AFFAIRS

SECRETARY OF STATE OF KANSAS SAYS COUNTRY IS LAW- OVERBURDENED.

(Associated Press)

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—Centralization and simplification of state government and elimination of numerous boards, "which govern, inspect, supervise, regulate and control" the individual from the "cradle to the grave" was urged by J. T. Botkin, Kansas secretary of state, in an address before the American Conference of Secretaries of State, here today.

Mr. Botkin asserted that beginning some fifteen or twenty years ago the legislatures of many of our states entered upon an era of what he termed "legislative adventure." The result has been, he said, a series of laws, "which in their ramification reach out and embrace practically every subject from the regulation of the length of women's hat pins to the supervision and control of our most gigantic commercial concerns." He pointed out that to administer these laws an unwieldy and unnecessary system has grown up in most states and with it has come a multitude of more or less useless boards and commissions, supervisors, inspectors, departments and bureaus.

"In my judgment our state governments are assuming too many functions that properly belong to the people and not to the state," he said. "We have too much regulation of private affairs by state authority.

"When a child is born in Kansas today it is greeted when it first opens its eyes, by the department of child hygiene standing at the bedside with a forty-page pamphlet issued at the state's expense, containing instructions to his mother as to how to rear him, with rules and regulations as to his diet, his conduct and his guidance for the first six years of his life."

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Clara D. Pease, who, under a decree of separate maintenance obtained in the circuit court from Edward A. Pease, wealthy real estate dealer of Aurora, Ill., receives $275 a month alimony, has decided that she does not wish a divorce from her husband and has dismissed her supplementary bill for divorce.

MRS. BEIDEL TELLS WOMEN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health for 14 Years.

Shippensburg, Pa.—"It was several years ago that I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I then suffered terribly every month. My husband bought me a bottle of it and it helped me right away. Then after my second child was born I had a female trouble very badly and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in a short time was cured and have been in excellent health since. I always praise the Compound whenever I have an opportunity as I know it helped me and will help others. Lately I have given the Compound to my daughter and I wish all suffering women would take it and be convinced of its worth."

—Mrs. JAMES A. BEIDEL, 113 N. Penn Street, Shippensburg, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Robert Morris—"Financier of the Revolution"

IT HAS BEEN SAID the three very great men of our War for Independence were Washington, Franklin and Morris. In the history of mankind no man ever had a more arduous commission than did Morris in financing the armies of Washington. The credit of the nation was practically valueless, and time after time it was the personal credit of Morris which brought forth the money. The financial means raised from his own private resources made the victory at Trenton possible. When Washington proposed the capture of Lord Cornwallis and his entire army, it was from Morris, the patriot and private citizen, and not from the treasury of the Confederate States from which the money came. Thus Washington's last great victory was made possible, and the long and bloody struggle for National Independence brought to an end. Morris was the first to suggest our present system of National banks—the best banking system that any nation has ever known. He was the first American to send a ship forth flying the Stars and Stripes. Like Franklin he signed both the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. He was very hospitable, and whenever Washington visited Philadelphia he was the guest of Morris. He was ever a moderate user of light wines and barley brews, and opposed Prohibition Laws, which make the many suffer for the faults of the few. For 58 years Anheuser-Busch have been brewing the kind of honest barley-malt and Saazer hop brews which the wisdom of Morris knew make for real temperance. To-day at the home of BUDWEISER 7500 people are daily required to meet the natural public demand. BUDWEISER'S ever-increasing popularity comes from quality, purity, mildness and exquisite flavor. Its sa exceed any other beer by millions of bottles.

Visitors to St. Louis are courteously invited to inspect our plant—covers 142 acres.

KING FERDINAND JOINS HIS ARMY

Bulgaria Ruler Goes to Front to Aid Forces.

SERBIA ADMITS HER PERIL

Germans and Bulgarians Pushing Drive from All Sides—Serbian Resistance Heroic—Allies to Send 400,000 Men—Bulgars Cut Railway in Two Places.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 22.—King Ferdinand has gone to the front, where he assisted in the artillery battles before Stachin, the capture of which position opens the way to Kumanovo.

Capture of 2,000 Serbs near Kiselj is reported in an official statement.

After advancing step by step in the Timok Valley the Bulgarian army is before Negotin, from which the Serbians fled in panic, the statement adds.

Take Strategic Points.

Near Pirot the Bulgarians, after a stubborn battle, captured the Kolibare towers, on Vidlic Planina. These are very important strategic points.

Around Vranja the Bulgarians are strongly established, having cleared the valley of the Morava for a distance of thirteen miles.

Advancing by way of Egri Palanka, the Bulgarian forces routed a strong Serbian force, which fled toward Kumanovo.

In the valley of Bregalnitsa the Bulgarian offensive is progressing with lightning-like rapidity. The whole of this valley is now in possession of King Ferdinand's army, together with the plateau of Outseche Polje and a number of towns in this vicinity.

It was during the fighting in this region that 2,000 Serbians were captured.

Allies to Send 400,000.

London, Oct. 22.—At least 400,000 British and French troops will be sent to the Balkans to help the Serbians and to invade Turkey and Bulgaria, it is learned. This decision was said to have been reached at the conference this week between French War Minister Millerand and the British cabinet's military committee.

Serbia admits her plight in an official statement, which says the situation grows more and more serious. On the eastern front, the statement declares, the Bulgarians have taken the towns of Vranja and Volosko, cutting the line to Saloniki in two places.

The resistance of the Serbian troops, the report adds, is desperate and heroic, but the strong pressure of the Austrians and Germans from the north and the masses of Bulgarians from the east are menacing seriously the Serbian army, which is now cut off from Saloniki. The arrival of the allied troops is awaited anxiously.

The Bulgars are striving to prevent a junction between the allies and the Serbians, the statement declares.

Germans Pushing on.

Berlin, Oct. 22.—The Austro-German army of invasion in Serbia is pushing back the Serbians over the entire front, although the Teutonic advance is slow. The war office stated that the Serbians had been driven out of the strongly fortified positions near Ripanj. The Bulgarians also have made a further advance.

New York Oct. 22.—President Arthur T.
